Grayling Mercantile To Expand

William Joseph of Grayling Mercantile Co., announced this week the completion of lease arrangements with Roy DeWitt of Roscommon for the building on the corner of Michigan Ave. and Cedar St. which formerly housed Baringer's. The lease became effective on Sept. 1, 1970.

Present plans call for an opening to be made between Grayling Mercantile and the new building to enable shoppers easy access to either store.

It is hoped that in the near future a new front and more attractive rear entrance may be added to the two buildings to further enhance the appearance of the Michigan Ave. shopping district, Mr. Joseph said.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Welch will continue with the same apparel lines as before, and others that may be added.

The Grayling Mercantile will have all its men's wear in the building in addition to women's sportswear, which will enable a larger expansion in women's and children's clothing in its present building, Mr. Joseph added.

Viking Grid Squad Hard At Work

Viking gridiron hopefuls turned out Monday, Aug. 24, for a full week of conditioning exercises in preparation for the 1970 season.

Head coach Mike Weiland has his squad in contact drills this week, with practice each morning from 8 to 12.

Five star material looks good, according to the Viking coaching staff, but good bench strength that added the Vikings to last year's conference crown is lacking.

Several key positions are up for grabs, including the slots of quarterback, tailback and tight end are wide open for new hopefuls. These positions were vacated by former graduation and since all three were occupied by all-conference and all-state players, they will be tough to fill, coach Weiland stated.

Tom Mead and Jerry Fitzpatrick are possible starters in the quarterback spot, with Jerry King, Tom Gates and Murray Babitt fighting it out for the tailback position.

Tight end hopefuls to replace all-star, Vern Hartman, are not too plentiful, coach Weiland added. Sophomore, Dan McLease and senior, Ron Shepherd will be called on to fill the vacancy.

Our interior line with Ken Bird-chapel, Jim Corlew, Chuck Wilcox, Dan Legg and Arnold Gilman looks good. Brian Duncley, Lenny Leininger and Mert Theaker could round out a starting offense, the coach said.

According to coach Weiland, defensive players not playing much offense will probably be headed by safety Jim Tobin. Other hopefuls are Peter Johnson, John C. Peters, Mike McManara, Mike Gidner, Mark Dandy, Tony Latusek, Steve Westervelt, Paul Sojka, Joe Elmhans and Ernest Balch.

The Vikings will hold a preseason scrimmage on Fri., Sept. 11 with the Gaylord Blue Devils at Gaylord.

Opening game the Grayling squad will be at Houghton Lake when they take on the Bobcats on Friday evening, Sept. 18th.

Group Meets At Bear Mt.

A special meeting of Area 16 Executive Council of Home Extension met at the Polyhedron Lodge for a luncheon recently.

22 women were present from Roscommon, Prudenville, Higgins Lake and Grayling. Mrs. Iris Peeters gave information on NEH fee at Las Vegas, November 29. Reservations are to be in by October 1. If you plan to fly with the Michigan group, plane reservations must be in by Sept. 28.

Each study group is to submit a nomination for area secretary and treasurer. The next council meeting will be October 8, 1:30 p.m. at Prudenville.

Merrily Baldwin reported on program planning for the coming year. Projects will consist of Kick-off, Sept. 8, Higgins Lake Conservation School, the Christmas tea at Grayling in December, a lesson series in February, and College Day in May.

Calendar towels are to be ordered and sold as a money raising project.

Crawford County Up-Dating Zoning Ordinance

BY Wilbur Bosserman
County Extension Director

The Crawford County Zoning Commission has been meeting two or three nights a month to revise and update its zoning ordinance. The Grayling Township Zoning Board has been meeting with them also. The two boards are attempting to make the two ordinances alike so there will be less confusion between them.

Now there are two separate green belt zoning districts. The new will be exactly alike for both county and township.

This is the second year that the Crawford County Zoning Ordinance has been in effect. It has been administered with very little difficulty and has placed no hardships on any one.

Roy Lapentus is the County Zoning Director. Jeremy Jones is chairman of the Crawford County Commission. They say the ordinance gives development guidance needed to help prevent rural sprawl.

Earl Lamoreaux, Chairman of the County Board of Commissioners is a long time advocate of zoning according to plan to enhance orderly development. Proper zoning does protect the property owner from undesirable developments from coming up next door to them.

The state law which was passed in 1943 giving counties and townships the power to enact zoning ordinances gives the people protection from being overwhelmed by zoning. The ordinances cannot be made retroactive, thereby protecting uses already in existence. This protection is found in the chapter on "nonconforming uses" of each zoning ordinance.

An appeals board is set up where citizens can bring their grievances if they feel the zoning administrator has not dealt with them justly or hasn't interpreted the ordinance correctly in their case.

Most people who oppose zoning are expressing their fear of undue restrictions which they feel will be placed on the use of their property. They find that their fears vanish as they live under a zoning ordinance and discover that their fears were mostly unfounded.

Extra Patrol

Traffic at Peak On Labor Day Weekend

Expecting Labor Day weekend traffic in Michigan to be normally heavy, the State Police will operate special patrols from noon Friday, Sept. 4, to midnight Monday, Sept. 7, said Col. Frederick E. Davis, department director.

Various "last fling" activities of this closing major holiday period of the summer attract hundreds of thousands of motorists to the roads, he noted, increasing the potential for accidents.

The director said the Labor Day weekend in recent years has been the worst holiday period for traffic deaths. The average was 38 in the years 1965-69, high in the period was 51 in 1968, low 25 in 1965. There were 27 deaths last year.

Augmenting the patrols will be the vehicle check lane officers from the various posts, district traffic officers and detectives as needed, and about three dozen members of the Michigan State Police Reserve, also as needed. Department aircraft, weather permitting, will supplement the patrol activity during daylight hours.

Maximum patrol coverage will be provided from 3 p.m. to at least 9 p.m., each day of the holiday weekend. Special attention will be focused on state and county highways having bad accident experience.

To Meet On Hwy. Safety

Mrs. Lewis Johnson, the Crawford County Committee Chairman for Michigan Women For Highway Safety, announced today that a one-day highway safety conference will be held Thursday, Sept. 17, at the St. Augustine Church, Hillman, Mich., from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

All members of MWFHS and all women interested in learning more about local, county, regional and state highway safety problems and needs are invited to attend the conference. Registration and lunch will be $1.75.

Speakers will include an officer from the Traffic and Safety Bureau, Michigan Dept. of State Police, a sheriff, a judge or prosecutor, a road commissioner or traffic engineer, and a driver education instructor or supervisor from Alcona, Alpena, Cheboygan, Crawford, Montmorency, Oscoda, Otsego and Presque Isle counties which comprise Region IX of MWFHS.

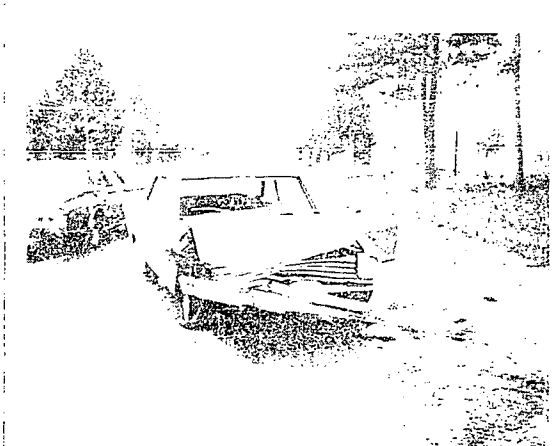

Also speaking will be representatives of the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning, Dept. of State Police, Traffic Safety for Michigan, and the Highway Traffic Center, Continuing Education Service, M.S.U. These are the support agencies for Michigan Women For Highway Safety.

Each women's club and organization in Region IX is invited to send delegates to the September 17th conference. Registrations must be made in advance with Mrs. Johnson at 348-9503.

Bert Plagens, 72, of Maple Forest Township, was injured Monday afternoon, on the Michigan National Guard firing range No. 21, according to Crawford County Sheriff deputies.

Plagens was injured when a 40 millimeter shell exploded which struck him in the back of the head.

Following the accident he drove to his daughter's home, Mrs. Ron Larson, on County Rd. 612, and she brought him into Mercy Hospital.

Plagens was treated at the hospital and released, officials said.

DRIVE WITH School Children IN MIND

Six youths were injured in a two-car accident Sunday afternoon around 2:35 on M-72 about a mile west of Grayling.

David L. Donnell, 17, of Bowling Green, Ohio was alone in the car he was driving. He was arrested on two counts by Crawford County Sheriff deputies who investigated the accident. One on careless driving and the other for not having an operator's license on his person.

Donnell pleaded guilty to the two counts in District Court Monday morning, officers said. Driver of the second car involved was Karl Kennedy, 17, of Ypsilanti. Passengers in his car were Douglas Jesse, 17, Mark and David Smallwood, 17 and 15, respectively, and Brad Wade, 16, all were also of Ypsilanti.

The Kennedy car was traveling east and Donnell west when the accident occurred.

All six were taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment and released, except for Jesse who was transferred to University Hospital, Ann Arbor, a hospital spokesman said.

County Receives $116,669 From Highway Funds

LANSEN—Second quarter receipts to the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund — up nearly $14.2 million over the same period last year — are being distributed to Michigan counties, cities and villages, the State Highway Commission said today.

State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth said net receipts of the Highway Fund during April, May and June of 1970 amounted to $87.1 million, an increase of 19.3 per cent compared to the second quarter of 1969.

Stafseth said the increase is due to several factors, including a one-month extension for obtaining motor vehicle license plates; an increase in the rate of weight tax for trucks; and the normal increase of the number of motor vehicles and miles being driven.

The license plate deadline this year was moved from the last day of February to the last day in March, resulting in a substantial portion of license plate fees showing up in the second quarter instead of the first quarter. (See Highway Funds on page 12)

THIRD ANNUAL SPORTSMAN'S SHOTGUN SHOOT

For the third consecutive year, Phil Miller won the Grayling Sportsman's Club Shotgun Championship. Again, Curly LaMotte pushed Phil but lost in an exciting shoot off. Both men tied at 48 after the regular match, which consisted of 25 birds in trap and 25 birds in skeet. Then a round of trap was shot to decide the winner. Both Miller and LaMotte shot 25 straight so that another round was called for. Again, both men broke all of the birds. The light was beginning to fade, but both shooters moved back to their handicap yardage to decide the match. Miller broke ten straight, but LaMotte missed a bird ending the match.

This Wednesday night the club will hold its International Skeet and Clay Pigeon Championship. This match will not interfere with the normal shooting and the public is welcome as usual. In addition to Wednesday nights, the trap and skeet range is also open to the public on Sunday starting at 2 p.m. Hunters, now is the time to sharpen your shooting before the season begins.

Zebra — Lost And Found

The missing Zebra from Bear Mountain "Little Smokey" exhibit was found Monday, August 31st at approximately 12:45 p.m. by two employees of Camp Grayling, John McGoldrick and Ed Nellist. It was found about 800 feet North of the Camp Grayling Parade Field, in a ditch off Layle Road. The Zebra suffered only a broken leg and bruises to the body. According to the Crawford County Sheriff's Department the Zebra was deposited during the evening of August 27th, by some unknown person or persons.

The Zebra was reported stolen on August 22 and a large scale search had been made in Michigan and Ohio during the past week by State Police and Sheriff's Department. The large bear, which was stolen about the same time as the Zebra was located in Ohio last week.

(By Carl Knowles)

The eight foot fiberglass bear that marks the entrance of Bear Mt., is back home following its bear-napping by Ohio Guardsmen, when they broke camp after their two weeks summer encampment here. The reason for the confiscation of the bear is still clouded, but we wonder if some of the Buckeyes still remember the dark day last fall when the Wolverines of U. of M. upset their appeacart. Sorry fellas, Grayling and Bear Mt., had nothing to do with that fateful Saturday.

Bowling Notice

Kid's league will start on October 17. Anyone wishing personal help before then may get it on Saturday afternoons from 1 to 3 at the bowling alley. Instructors will be on hand.

Ruffed grouse hunters have two opening days in Michigan. The early opening, September 15, is for the northern two-thirds of the state. In southern Michigan, the thunderbirds don't become legal scattergun targets until October 20, along with most other small game.

From all advance predictions by the Department of Natural Resources, the 1970 season won't be the greatest for partridge or "pats" as they are known in the northern counties.

DNR game biologists say the grouse have been at a low point and it looks like they are going to stay there most places. In 1967 some 185,000 pat hunters blasted 514,769 birds. Last year only 150,000 hunters bought licenses and bagged 300,000 birds. This say biologists, was very bad. Is it though?

Figuring percentages, last year the average partridge hunter came home with two birds during the season. Two years earlier, during what was figured as a good season, he had "much better luck," yet only ended up with 2.9 birds. (That nine tenths of a grouse is a mighty tricky target, you can bet!)

Just what seems to be the trouble? Some of the less serious field biologists allow as how it might well be a shortage of drumming logs. After all, if forestry practices are now so efficient that no big logs are allowed to lie on the ground and go to waste, how in heck is a boy grouse going to let a girl grouse know he is ready and willing to set up housekeeping with her?

Others will explain, just as seriously, that a shortage of partridge just naturally follows a shortage of pear trees. Apple trees we have in fair abundance in most parts of Michigan but pear trees are rather scarce items most places.

Could be when Johnny Appleseed came through Michigan scattering his goodies, somebody should have slipped a few sacks of pear seeds in with his stock-in-trade.

The powers that-be in the DNR Lansing office, of course, deny that drumming log and pear tree shortages have anything to do with the shortage of partridge. They say it is due more to a lack of cutting in woodlands that are growing up too fast. Without openings, ruffed grouse don't do very well.

They suggest that hunters check a little closer in those areas where pulpwood has been taken out recently or where saw logs are being harvested. Lush growth that follows is ideal habitat for the thunderbirds as well as woodcock, snowshoe hares and deer.

While nobody has mentioned it, we feel someone should also put in a good word for the oil and gas companies that are leasing much of Michigan's north country. Actually, if the facts were known, they aren't really interested in the wealth that lies underground. What they have in mind (when they knock down vast areas of trees to build roads and clearings to set up their oil derricks) is grouse.

They know the cover will again spring up and provide excellent partridge habitat. The day and night noise of the oil pumps will also serve to frighten any predators away from any grouse in the areas. And the stink from the wells, which will replace the monotonous smell of the pines, is guaranteed to cover up the scent of a grouse from any predator brave enough to go into the area seeking a grouse dinner.

And, somebody thought oil companies were all bad!

SUNDAY'S SERMON

HAPPINESS IS
Many of us go through life in a somewhat miserable state because we are never satisfied with the things that come our way. We look around us and see someone who has a better job, who is better looking, who, "lives better", and we are envious.

When someone we know is in trouble, we give the matter only a momentary comment and attention. Our personal problems, however, are always greater, always more staggering.

What we fail to realize is these persons we believe to have the "better life" also have their share of problems. To these people, the problems may be far beyond any that we have ever known. In short, we see only that the grass is greener across the street — and we do not consider that it could be so because of a higher water bill.

The key to successful living does not lie in being content with what we have. Happiness is making the most of what we have, working toward realistic goals. Happiness is having concern for our neighbor, for what he is and not for what he has.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

what's in a NAME?

People ask for brand-name products because they have become known for dependability and service through the years. These names assure us of quality.

We, too, are known by our names. Mention of John Smith immediately inspires a positive or negative reaction, depending upon the man's reputation. A good name is indeed our most priceless, yet most perishable, possession.

Day in and day out, our thoughts, words and actions must be on the side of goodness, for it is today which determines tomorrow's past — for good or for bad.

If we could only perform each act and utter each word as if they were our last, those by which we would be remembered, then how great would be the significance of our names!

In this confused era where better can we turn for guidance and help than to the Church? Here we will discover the teachings of Christ — the most hallowed name of all.

NOTICE TO GENERAL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF MICHIGAN CUSTOMERS

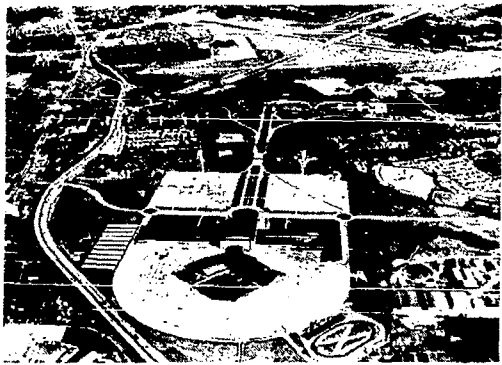

General Telephone Company of Michigan has applied to the Michigan Public Service Commission for authority to revise its tariff regulations with respect to customer-provided equipment interconnected electrically, inductively or magnetically with the telephone company's facilities. The proposed tariff does not list or describe all specific equipment which may be connected to the company facilities but it does set forth certain definitive requirements.

The proposed tariff is a broadening of our present interconnection policy and contains the regulations, rates and charges for commonly available means of interconnection. It also provides that more complex means of interconnection will be provided on the basis of costs. When an employee of the company is required to visit the premises of a customer, the company also proposes, in order not to burden its general rate payers, (i) to make a charge of $15 per line to establish the level of signal power in connection with acoustical and inductive connection devices, and (ii) to make a charge of $15 when the visit is the result of a service difficulty or trouble report and it is determined that the cause of the difficulty is not in the company's facilities but in the customer-provided equipment. The $15 charge would not provide for repair or inspection of customer-provided equipment or apparatus.

Normal telephone service is not affected by the proposed tariff.

The Michigan Public Service Commission has scheduled a public hearing on this matter to be held Thursday, September 24, 1970, at 9:30 a.m., in the Seven Story State Office Building, 5th Floor, 525 West Ottawa Street, Lansing, Michigan. Interested parties may be present. If you have any questions concerning the matter contained in this notice, please contact the manager of your local business office.

GENERAL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF MICHIGAN

CONVENTION SITE... More than 10,000 planners, architects, government people, designers financial sources, holders and others involved with the changing building industry are expected to attend the first Industrial Building Exposition and Congress, scheduled for November 26 at the Kentucky Exposition Center at Louisville. IBEC/70 will span everything from market research to layout of factories to produce both residential and commercial buildings.

Streamlining The Check-Out

Automation comes to the check-out counter. Clerks tap three keys—one for quantity, one for identity of the product, one for the total and the transaction is permanently recorded at the same time a paper print-out is delivered as the customer's receipt. The total cost is visually displayed as well.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q I'm separated from my husband and have gone back to work. What do I do about my tax return this year?

A) If you are not legally separated, you have a choice of filing a joint return with your husband or filing a separate return for yourself. If you are separated under an interlocutory decree of divorce you may also file a joint return.

On a joint return, your income and expenses are combined with your husband's and the tax is figured on these totals. Although you and your husband may reach agreement for each of you to pay a part of the tax, legally you and your husband are each responsible for the whole amount. Should either of you not pay the share agreed upon, the other is liable for the full amount.

On a separate return report just your income and compute the tax on that. However, you must both handle your deductions the same way. If either itemizes, so must the other. Details on preparing returns for 1970 will be available early in January. If you have any questions after reading the tax instructions contact your local IRS office. They will be glad to help you.

Q What expenses do you count to see if you made a profit on the sale of a home?

A) Typical expenses that can be deducted from the sales price are broker's fees and commissions, advertising costs and legal fees. Loan charges, such as placement fees or points, may also be added to your other selling costs.

Q My refund hasn't come and I never have heard what happened to it. What should I do?

A) Write your regional IRS service center and ask them to check on your refund. Be sure to give your name, address, social security number and date the return was filed. If you have moved since you filed also give your former address. If it is more convenient, call your local IRS office about the refund.

Q I've been given a fellowship so I can complete work on my graduate degree. Do I have to pay tax on it?

A) Income from a fellowship is usually tax exempt. If you are a candidate for a degree there is no limit on the amount of income you can receive tax-free from a fellowship or scholarship grant.

However, if you teach or perform other services in connection with the award, the portion of the award that represents payment for this work is generally taxable. This rule does not apply if all candidates for the degree, whether they have a fellowship or not, are also required to perform these services.

For additional information send a postcard to your IRS District Director for a free copy of Publication 507, "Tax Information On Scholarships and Fellowships."

One of four models—

Kammback wagon in new Vega line

A new type of sports wagon blending improved handling stability with cargo carrying utility is the Kammback wagon model of Chevrolet's 1971 Vega 2300 economy car line. This four-passenger fun-to-drive vehicle has a rear window-door that lifts for maximum accessibility and a fold-down rear seat for extra load capacity. This is one of four Vega models. Better handling than usual economy cars, Vega has a new, domestic-built lightweight overhead cam engine to fill performance needs of American drivers. It gives impressive fuel economy and low emissions. Among "firsts" in economy cars are Vega's power-flow interior ventilation (with air exhausted through louvers on rear fenders), comfortable molded foam seats and steel side-guard beams in the doors. Vega models go on sale in Chevrolet dealerships on Thursday, September 10.

McNamara - - A Household Word

In Michigan politics, the name of McNamara could properly be considered a household word. In most households, the reference could easily be made to the late Sen. Pat McNamara or Bob McNamara, the recent secretary of defense.

But Edward H. McNamara, the mayor of Livonia?

Such are the ways of State convention politics that Ed McNamara is now the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, handpicked by Sander Levin, who will lead the Democrats' effort to return the governor's office to their party.

Why did Sander Levin pick Ed McNamara out of nowhere to be his running mate this fall?

The pundits point out that Levin is liberal and Jewish and opposes parochialism; while McNamara is moderate and Catholic and favors parochialism. A case thus could be made for ideological balance of sorts.

But in looking for the real reason for McNamara's selection, the answer might more properly be: Why not?

In very few cases can the second man on a tandem ticket add much vote-getting strength to the top of the ticket. An exception would be Lyndon Johnson on the Kennedy ticket, and possibly Spiro Agnew on the Nixon ticket—although Agnew's pre-election strength was more in the fact that a man such as Agnew was selected rather than in his actual personal campaigning role.

The primary objective in running-mate selection is to pick someone who will not be a drawback.

As far as can be immediately determined, Ed McNamara offers no political liabilities to the Levin ticket. That, in itself, is reason enough to justify his selection.

So the Democrats will field a Democratic slate of Levin, McNamara, Richard Austin and Frank Kelley—and, of course, the sitting U. S. Senator, Phil Hart.

Running alongside, but on the non-partisan ballot, will be two former governors, G. Mennen Williams and John Swainson, for the state supreme court.

And then, further down the ballot, tagging along like hungry children following a boy with a dollar to the candy store, will be eight nominees for the various state educational boards.

If past practice serves—and there is no real reason to believe it won't—most Michigan voters won't even know the names of these educational candidates before election day, and very few voters will know them after election day either, win or lose. Which, in my view, is one heck of a sorry way to deal with education in Michigan. Our schools are more important than that, and the system of selecting their policy makers ought to be changed.

The Democrats' top lineup this year is intriguing from several angles. It's a strong ticket, with broad appeal—at least on the surface.

But for one thing, gone is the old attempt at geographic balance. Outstate Michigan is virtually blanked. Just check the home bases of the candidates.

A case could be made that Kelley is a representative of outstate Michigan. Kelley was born, raised, educated and started his law business in Detroit. Then he moved to Alpena, where he lived for seven years before being appointed attorney general, and now he lives and votes in Eaton county. At heart, we in the hinterlands, suspect, Kelley is still a Detroit.

And although Hart is now a registered voter at Mackinac Island, all of the Democrats' top candidates are Detroit oriented.

Not too many years ago, the Upper Peninsula automatically was assured of one statewide nomination; lately, their delegates may even have trouble getting seated at state conventions. And the Polish seat on the ticket also is unfilled this year.

For Ed McNamara, the campaign experience is sure to be an interesting one. His selection as the Number Two man is very reminiscent in character to the selection by another ticket head in somewhat similar circumstances just two years ago.

And relatively speaking, the distance from mayor of Livonia to lieutenant governor of Michigan is about the same distance as from governor of Maryland to vice president of the United States.

TEAMWORK... Both student and dog swim across a creek without difficulty during a water-crossing training exercise as part of the Scout Dog program at Ft. Benning, Ga. Student dog handlers work with the canines for three months of intensive training before the animals can be used for duty.

Wage Moratorium Saves Plant Jobs

Employees at the Uniroyal Inc.'s Naugatuck, Conn. plant, agreed to forego a wage increase for three years, in order to keep the 127-year-old facility open.

The three year moratorium was ratified by the rubber union members for the 4,000 employees of the plant.

The agreement at the facility gives Uniroyal "some measure of relief" in regard to domestic competition, a company spokesman said. The labor content of the rubber and canvas shoes accounts for 50 per cent of the cost of making them, according to the company.

Ford's new 1971 Pinto, a two-door sedan, combines a small-car feel with a sporty-car look. The sloping windshield is accented by the low, sleek lines of the hood and fenders. Ventless side windows add to the trim lines of the car. In the rear, Pinto's short deck and fastback lines stress the contemporary look of the Seventies. The Pinto is about 13 1/2 feet long, turns in a circle of only 31 feet for easy maneuverability and delivers more than 25 miles per gallon in city-suburban driving.

New Ecology Aids Developed By Industry

Industry continues to explore new techniques to reduce litter and pollution.

General Motors is conducting a two-month experiment in Traverse City, Mich., to clear the area of junked and abandoned cars by having the wrecks towed to local wrecking yards at their expense. They are endeavoring to make the system self-sustaining.

The Atlantic Richfield Company is providing mobile auto testing units for highway testing of improper air-fuel mixture, dirty air filter, or plugged pollution control systems in cars, all of which contribute to exhaust pollution through inefficient fuel consumption. The condition can be corrected by simple adjustment or part replacement.

A retired Pennsylvania State University professor, Dr. Paul H. Schweitzer, has developed the Optimizer, a device which "fine tunes" the spark to eliminate smog-creating emissions.

The little Cuyahoga river in Ohio, which is utilized by Goodyear in its processing, sends water away from the Akron plant cleaner than it was when it entered. It not only has the Goodyear pollutants removed, but also those entering the river from sources upstream.

Two British chemists have developed a range of dyes which, when added to plastics, causes them to break-down and destroy themselves under the action of ultra-ray light in sunlight. Plastics on the kitchen shelf or in show windows will not disintegrate.

Basement is cleaned

By Jim Fitzgerald

(I told them if they would shut up I'd put their names in 40 newspapers. The power of the press is a magnificent thing.)

Credit for the shiny basement should also go to Kiwanis International.

It was Kiwanis that declared Aug 9 as Family Reunion Day. The idea was to "dramatize the family as the keystone of the nation's strength and morality."

"That sounds like a good day to drink a lot of beer and gin," I told my wife. "Let's invite my relatives to town. They can do it better than anyone."

Thus, weeks before the reunion date, one of the most monumental tasks in history got underway. My wife began cleaning out the basement.

When a husband's relatives are coming, it is always necessary for his wife to clean the basement. It doesn't matter that the party is upstairs. You never know when our 1st floor might collapse and my mother and my aunts and my sisters will tumble into the basement, landing in a pile of dirty laundry. They'll see that the Christmas decorations haven't been put away yet. They'll see that our son has hung a tether ball from a cobweb. They'll see what the cats do when their litter box isn't cleaned in 3 months. They'll see that the last thing my wife threw away was a 1932 Sears catalog.

The kids had a toy sale, making themselves independently wealthy off neighborhood youngsters who eagerly paid for the right to transfer junk from our basement to theirs.

Everything else was packed into boxes, boxes, boxes. The basement was as cluttered as ever, but now the clutter was packaged. When I pointed this out, my wife had a triumphant answer.

"Goodwill is going to pick up those boxes the day before the reunion," she said. "Please put them on the back porch."

Well, I got 2 boxes to the porch before my back broke. After some domestic chit-chat, it was agreed that the Goodwill man could go into the basement for the rest of the boxes. Son Eddie was assigned to tell the Goodwill man this. But Eddie forgot. Only the 2 boxes on the porch were taken.

When my wife returned home to this tragic news, she first cried. Then she snarled. Then, so help me, she jumped into the car and went in pursuit of the Goodwill truck. She caught it as it was escaping town. She told the driver her sad story, about all the relatives coming and how her mother-in-law mustn't see those boxes of junk.

But the Goodwill man wasn't so full of good will. He refused to return. The boxes were still there when my relatives invaded.

And, believe it or not, everyone had a good time anyway. Even my wife, although she got a little bruised throwing herself in front of the basement door when my brother-in-law headed that way (one of the kids had told him the boxes were full of beer).

Onward and Upward and do come again, relatives. Just give us time to wash the roof.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Health Insurance Institute, 211
Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. When I applied for a health insurance policy recently the agent seemed very concerned about my health. He wanted to know all about my medical history and what kind of physical condition I was in. Is this type of examination normal?

It depends on the individual and the company. A large part of a health insurance policy concerns the medical history and physical condition of the applicant. Since the majority of applicants for health insurance usually do not need a medical examination, the application is usually the only means of gaining a history of an applicant's physical condition. If there is a question about the applicant's health, the company has the right to request a medical examination.

Insurance companies want to protect each of their policyholders from having to pay a higher premium than necessary. If an individual has a physical condition that increases his chances of being sick, he may be put in a special category and pay a larger premium than other policyholders for the same kind of protection. However, this means the bulk of policyholders who enjoy average health would pay an average premium. For persons who do not have average health, use of waivers for certain impairments may also be included in the policy. This is true of those who have recurring disorders, who need hospitalization or medical treatment, or who have a disability from a present physical condition.

For a company to underwrite risks soundly, there are conditions, such as rheumatic fever and certain allergies, and any major illnesses in the last five years, which need to be recorded. Though they may not seem serious, they could disqualify an applicant.

Other conditions such as epilepsy, impaired hearing or eyesight, may affect coordination and reflex actions. Diabetes could turn a minor injury into a serious disability.

Depending on the seriousness of an applicant's medical history and physical condition, a company may require either a waiting period of six months to a year for a pre-existing condition, or may issue a special class of insurance at a higher premium.

CARD OF THANKS

Although there is no adequate way that we can express our feelings, we would like to say thank you to everyone who showed such compassion during our tragic loss.

Thank you for the many floral tributes, the food, the offers of child care assistance, and donations of money.

A special thank you to Jackie and Debbie Helsel, who took up a collection for the children, and the Moose Lodge for preparing a fine meal after the services.

We know there are many who share our grief and all your kindness is comforting.

31% Pass State Police Vehicle Check Lanes

State Police motor vehicle inspection figures for the first half of this year show that of 100,000 vehicles checked 31 per cent passed, according to Capt. John Amthor, traffic division commander.

The approval percentage was up slightly from 28 per cent last year.

Top three items for rejection were windshield washers, registration plate light, and headlight dim.

Amthor noted that check lane personnel arrested 10,344 drivers for some type of driver license violation while processing the vehicles and operators.

This included 452 drivers jailed for driving while their licenses were revoked or suspended. Summons also were issued to 357 drivers for not having insurance on their vehicles and to 452 for improper vehicle registration plates.

Amthor said 12 police agencies in Michigan now operate vehicle check lanes with Detroit recently joining the program. The others, in addition to the State Police, included Ann Arbor, Livonia, Wyandotte, Sterling Heights, Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Muskegon, Taylor, Flint and Grand Rapids.

BITS O' TALK

Mr. and Mrs. Roger McDaniel and family returned home last Tuesday from a camping trip into Canada and around Lake Superior. They were gone for about a week and a half.

Mrs. Bessie Mills tells us that her pet racoon, that she has been feeding during the summer, has a different system of announcing her arrival when she wants to be fed. It seems that she will open the back door, about a foot and slam it shut. She will do this twice if no one answers her knock, then she will open the door all the way up and really slam it shut. After that she usually gets results.

Clairebell Goss, Leslie Goss and two daughters, Julie and Mary Lou, spent last weekend visiting Clairbell's daughter, Phyllis Armstrong and family in Marian, Ind.

Hwy. Funds

Highway Fund receipts are derived from motor vehicle license plate fees and a state tax on gasoline and diesel fuel, collected by the Department of State.

Total receipts to the fund for the fiscal year July 1, 1969 thru June 30, 1970 — prior to deduction of administrative and fixed costs — amounted to $399.8 million.

After deduction of collection costs, $3.5 million annually to the Mackinac Bridge Authority, a 1.5 per cent share of gas taxes to the State Waterways Commission and other fixed costs — such as for manufacture of license plates — the money is distributed according to a formula established by the State Legislature.

Forty-six per cent goes to the Department of State Highways, 34 per cent to the state's 83 counties and 20 per cent to the 528 incorporated cities and villages.

Under this formula the Highway Department receives $40.8 million as its share of the second quarter collections. The counties receive $29.6 million and the cities and villages, $17.4 million.

County distribution ranges from a low of $64,183 for Keweenaw County to a high of $5.3 million for Wayne County. City-village distribution ranges from a low of $427 for Lake Angelus in Oakland County to a high of $4,032,866 for the City of Detroit.

Crawford County's share of the highway funds amounted to $116,669 for 1970 as compared to $97,999 in 1969.
